MOSCATO D'ASTI DOCG

What's in the bottle?

Moscato Bianco has famously been grown in Piedmont since the 1300s. Today, the world-renowned zone of Moscato d'Asti is home to one of Italy's most historical and recognizable wines. With an unmistakable fragrance, our expression is redolent of candied fruit, acacia blossom, and honey. This wine is bubbly, delicately sweet, and positively irresistible.

Fun fact: These vines were planted in the heart of the DOCG zone at an exceptionally high elevation of 1,200 feet.

Varieties: Moscato Bianco (100%)

Soil: clay-sand-limestone

Harvest: early September

Yield: 70hl/ha

Vinification: fermented in Inox; stabilized in Inox

Alcohol: 5%
